

This is Pat Campbell's Exotica pattern from her 'Best of Jacobean' book. I took classes from Pat in Chicago several years ago as a treat to myself for helping my daughter with the startup of school there. (Pat has had been recovering from illness for the past few years and is not currently teaching.) I had previously traced all the blocks and completed just two and then put them away. After the classes with Pat, I was inspired to get them back out and completed the quilt in about 10 months. It was finished just after the Gems show in 2005. The appliqué is needleturn, the machine quilting and embroidery were done on my Artista; the embroidered label was digitized in the Bernina software.
