

This quilt is from an Atkinson Designs pattern in their book 9 Patch Reunion. They had done it in shades of red, but when I was it at The Clothesline Quilt Shop in Avon and I saw it done in blues, I knew that was the color scheme I would choose. It was an easy pattern to make, but was one of those UFO's that just seems to never get done. Our quilting club in Canton is doing "resolution" quilts this year to get some UFO's finished, so this finally was moved to the top of the stack. I don't usually quilt my own projects, but I did do this one all by myself--don't look too close.
