

This was started from a class at one of the first Quilt Corner quilt retreats. I finally had time this summer to load it on my machine and quilt the daylights out of it. It was fun trying to find extra things to add.